Exclusive cooperation between Coperion and inconso

IT- assisted bulk material management for the entire logistics chain in the petrochemical industry

Bad Nauheim, March 11, 2009

The Materials Handling Competence Center of Coperion GmbH, formerly Coperion Waeschle, has signed a mutually exclusive cooperation agreement with inconso AG, Bad Nauheim. Coperion has therefore now extended its comprehensive range of services for the plastics manufacturing, plastics compounding and plastics processing industries by logistics management systems for further distribution of the goods.

Through this cooperation with inconso AG, Coperion offers its customers solutions from one single source, covering all process stages along the process chain from the reactor through to shipping logistics, including the logistics management system. The increasing demands to be met by plastics manufacturers regarding product logistics flexibility and also the transparency and documentability of goods flows to the works for subsequent processes are fully satisfied.

The warehouse management systems from inconso AG permit reliable identification of all product flows and consignments from production through to shipping, including all relevant data for production and quality, management and warehouse optimisation through to order picking and shipping of individual customer orders.

Due to a standardised and certified SAP interface it is possible to integrate direct communication with a higher-level ERP system if necessary. Plant operators therefore have online access to all current inventory data for production and sales purposes.
